Honorable Allen W. Dulles, Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D. C.

Dear Allen:

I write to congratulate you and the Administration upon the splendid results and the wholehearted bi-partisan support of the Administration's position in reference to the Joint Congressional Committee. I think this is a magnificent tribute to you and the tremendous service the C.I.A. is rendering the country.

The weather is nice and sunny here, and I am gaining my strength back every day. I am sure I shall be strong enough to get back into the traces at the end of the month.

With affectionate regards to you and Clover, I am

Yours faithfully,

Dear Dillon:

It was good to receive your letter of April 16 and I appreciate your kind remarks therein.

I am delighted to hear that you are coming along so well and plan to be back with us soon -- we all miss you.

If you have been having pleasant, sunny weather down there, you are most fortunate! Here it has been quite uninspiring with winter continuing to stretch its way into spring for the most part.

Clover joins me in best wishes to you both.

Faithfully,

SIGNED
